AMERICAN ENAMEL CO'S
PATENT WROUGHT IRON
Enameled WATER PIPE.
This pipe is enameled under great heat, both inside and out, which gives it a hard jet gloss surface and preserves it from rust or corrosion. S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer and Chemist for the State of Massachusetts says "I commenced the investigation with some doubts about your Enameled Pipe, but the severe tests which I have employed prove that it is perfectly harmless, and possesses great durability, these being the properties of most importance in water pipes."
All sizes of this and plain pipe and fittings constantly on hand, and for sale at lowest market prices.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:
The undersigned, administrator of the estate of William H. Bailey, late of Carroll, in said county, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration.
Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant him a license to sell, at public or private sale, and convey the late homestead of the said William H. Bailey, situated in said Carroll, containing seventy-five acres of land more or less, with the buildings thereon, being the north half of lot No. 19 in said Carroll, and being all in said town, of the real estate of the deceased, including the reversion of the widow's dower therein, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale and charges of administration.
Said real estate is the same described in a Deed recorded in the Registry of Deeds of said county.

BLAINE AGAINST THE FIELD.

Interesting and Instructive Election Figures.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6, 1876.

To the Editor of the Boston Journal:

Following up our canvass of the probabilities in respect to the candidates for President and Vice president of the two political parties, we now propose to give you the result of a comparison of notes on the probabilities of the result at the general election in November. We are aware that there is a disposition to doubt the sincerity of those who undertake to forecast the results of great political contests such as we are promised this year, but in this connection we desire to observe that we have had unusual facilities for observation—consulting not only the members of Congress of all political "stripes," from all parts of the Union, but studying public sentiment in hundreds of newspapers and through thousands of people not directly connected with political affairs—and we present our views not as the mere idle speculations of a day, but as the firm convictions of those who have for many weeks watched the signs of the times and carefully compared the present circumstances with those of other campaigns for more than twenty years.

Before entering upon this canvass, let us notice briefly the manner in which our two party canvasses have been received. We have been criticised in reference to the Republican canvass by a class of journals which are too thin-skinned to belong to any party, but are particularly "independent" of the Republican party. It was our misfortune to treat as of little consequence the third term spectre, which has been an instrument in the hands of those independent personal organs to frighten neutral people who are too "good" to attend caucuses and conventions. We were not at all fortunate, either in dropping Mr. Charles Francis Adams from the list of candidates, and little less so in placing General Bristow lower on the list than those who never vote the Republican ticket would like to have him. In reference to these matters, let us observe that we have seen no reason to change our minds, but rather that our former convictions have been confirmed by later events. Regarding Mr. Adams and Mr. Bristow, it is not our fault but our sincere regret that they appear to be undergoing a gradual blight from the "independent" efforts of those who spoiled Andrew Johnson and killed Horace Greeley. In spite of all the gush of the milk-and-water press, it is not likely that either party this year will nominate a man of the other party or of doubtful party affiliation. As to the complaint of the same organs that Mr. Tilden was not fairly treated in our second canvass, we refer them to the hosts of Democratic witnesses from the West and South, who declare war upon him in advance. We have but to repeat our former estimate of the probabilities in both cases, that the Republican candidate for President will be James G. Blaine and the Democratic candidate Thomas A. Hendricks. The chance that we may be mistaken is more reasonably possible in the second than in the first, for the Democrats, although we think stoutly adhering to the idea of nominating a "true-blue" Democrat, may see the necessity of compromising on a man not now prominent.

In canvassing the probabilities of the electoral vote in November, it is necessary to consider the various contingencies which are possible. That is, we must see first what chance of success the parties would have merely upon the negative merits of their organization, without considering the merits of the candidates, or by conceding that both will be inferior. Then we must examine the question as between the two probable candidates, and inquire what changes might be made in case of the nomination of other candidates. There are certain States which in almost any contingency are sure to choose Republican electors, and certain others are just as sure to elect Democratic electors, and so in the table below we place the "field" against the "field," or the two parties against each other at their worst, and the "doubtful" States in their majority:

There will be 369 electoral votes, counting Colorado, of which 185 are necessary to a choice. It will appear, therefore, by an estimate, that, should the Republican party be careless of the consequences in making up its ticket and platform, possibly it might be defeated, as it can claim only 136 electoral votes as a certainty. To be sure the Democratic party starts off with a prospect still less hopeful, but the "doubtful" States are pretty large. The Democrats have demonstrated that no party can gain upon its adversary by adopting as its standard bearer a man whose fealty is uncertain. They will not repeat the mistake of 1872. It behooves the Republican party to "go do and likewise," and there is no doubt that it will nominate candidates whose future Republicanism may be judged by their past acts as well as their present position. In this view the list of doubtful States will be reduced, for with a thorough going Republican ticket during the Presidential year the Northern States always have increased their Republican vote in a much greater proportion than the Democratic, and thus we might add a few States to the Republican column; while on the other hand, the Democrats having carried a Southern State never let go their hold, and thus we might add some Southern States to their column. The above table, therefore, is intended to show the weakness of either party in case it conceals its identity, as the Democrats did in 1872, or nominates candidates who are positively unworthy, rather than the strength which either can bring out.

Next, we come to consider the canvass with reference to the two candidates whose nomination appears to us probable. We give first, a table showing at a glance the result of our comparison of notes, and, secondly, the reasons which led us to this conclusion.

Mr. Blaine would thus be elected by a majority of 105 electoral votes. We reach this conclusion by first giving the Democrats every Southern State over which they have local control. An objection was raised to this that many of them gave their electoral votes to Grant in 1872, and that the national election always calls out a larger proportion of the colored Republican vote. But upon a comparison of views with many leading Republicans, we deem it unsafe to count upon a single electoral vote where the Southern Democrats have the power to control the election laws, in view of the declaration of Robert Toombs, that the Democrats obtained power in Georgia "by carrying the black vote by intimidation and bribery," and that they will buy them as long as they are voters. It is barely possible that Virginia and North Carolina and Mississippi would bring out a Republican majority if this condition were otherwise; but we are dealing with the probabilities, and not with what should be the condition, and hence with the exception of three States, we give the whole of the Southern States to Hendricks.

With regard to the Northern States we differ so widely with the Democratic and "Independent" organs and speculations that we propose to show by facts and figures, which even they must acknowledge to be incontestible, that a positive, wide-awake candidate like Mr. Blaine can more than justify our prediction in his behalf. In the first place the liberal element of the last few years we find to be rapidly drifting back to the Republican party, and with them no man so popular as Mr. Blaine. No one can pursue the "course of instruction" in Washington which we have taken during the last few weeks without coming to the same conclusion. This will be no inconsiderable addition to the Republican party in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. The last named State, by the way, we gave to Mr. Hendricks only because it is his home, and State pride goes for considerable, although he is by no means sure of it. In the second place, no State east of Indiana would vote for a man who is doubtful upon the currency question, as Hendricks is acknowledged, we might say, boasted to be. Neither would he find much favor in the far Western States. In the third place, and more important than all other considerations, we must bear in mind, as before cautioned, that in Presidential years the increase of the Republican vote in the Northern States is very much larger than that of the Democratic vote. This fact is so generally overlooked by the arithmetic men who make figures merely to represent their wishes that we have taken pains to place the statistics in such a form as to be conclusive at a glance. We present in the following table the majorities for either party in certain Northern States on the last two Presidential elections (1868 and 1872) compared in parallel columns with the majorities at the State elections immediately preceding (1867 and 1871).

*Elections held the second year previous to the Presidential election.

We omit those Northern States which in neither instance held an election on the year previous.

Thus in 17 States we find, by the first comparative table, 1867-1868, that the Republicans in one year gained on the aggregate majority 195,640, while the Democrats lost 60,770, making the Republican net gain 256,410. The second table, 1871-1872, shows that the Republicans gained in their aggregate majority 430,687, while the Democrats, not carrying one of these States in 1872, lost 9077, making the Republican net gain, 455,764. The larger gains of the Republicans in 1872 were partly due to the demoralization of the Democrats consequent upon their abandonment of everything democratic; yet, as will appear hereafter, this fact does not affect the rule by which the Republicans, with a good ticket, on the Presidential year are enabled to count almost with a certainty upon several States which on other occasions frequently voted against them.

Let us now examine those figures so far as they relate to some of the States which many prophets persist in calling doubtful. New Hampshire in 1868 more than doubled its Republican majority of the year before, and in 1872 it reversed the Democratic majority of the year before, giving the Republicans nearly six thousand. Connecticut in 1868 reversed the Democratic majority of the year previous and gave the Republicans 3,000 and in 1872 it increased the previous Republican majority of 100 to nearly 5000.

We ask special attention to the action of New York and New Jersey in the years named, as most emphatically illustrating our view. In 1868 New York furnished the Democratic candidate for President—a man who was justly claimed personally to be stronger in that State and New Jersey than any other whom the party could present—Horatio Seymour. Yet, with every advantage, the Democratic majority of 48,000 in 1867 was reduced to 10,000 in 1868; and in New Jersey the Democratic majority was reduced from 16,000 to 3000. In 1872, with another New York candidate, New York increased the Republican majority of 19,000 the previous year to 53,000, and New Jersey reversed the Democratic majority, 5000, of the previous year, giving the Republicans 15,000. Figures like these carry an argument which we are unable to resist.

We need not follow this line of reasoning further. No candid reader can study these figures and those of the other States named without concluding as we have, that the Republican party, with a leader who commands the enthusiastic support which Mr. Blaine does, against the Democratic party, with a man of negative merits like Mr. Hendricks, can carry by good majorities all the so-called doubtful States which we have claimed for them.

We should not do justice to the history of the time without noticing the protest of the Tilden faction of the Democrats against the summary manner in which, they assert, we have disposed of the canvass by refusing to consider their claim, namely, that, should Mr. Tilden be nominated, he could carry enough of these States, added to the Southern States, to insure an election. Tilden's friends count him presenting to the Democratic party the choice of Tilden or defeat, and they assert that this determination will finally frighten the Democratic Convention to drop every other consideration but the promise of carrying New York. For the sake of the argument, admit that Tilden will be nominated. "Then," say his friends, "we shall claim for him the electoral votes of New York and New Jersey, and, in case the Republicans nominate a man less pronounced upon the financial issue than Mr. Blaine, we should claim California, Nevada, Colorado, Ohio, Connecticut and New Hampshire." We do not admit the possibility that the Republicans will nominate a man who is uncertain upon any of the questions of the day; our canvass of the public opinion does not justify a suspicion of such an event. So we will consider their first proposition, putting Mr. Tilden against Mr. Blaine. What assurance have they of carrying New York and New Jersey with Mr. Tilden? He is no more popular than Mr. Seymour—we judge not as strong with the business men. In 1867 the Democratic majority in New York was 48,000, and yet with Mr. Seymour for a leader in 1868, the State was saved to them by the meagre majority of 10,000. Last year, with the so-called financial reform cry, the assistance of the self-conceited, "powerful, independent press," with the personal efforts of Tilden and the Tammany chiefs more conspicuous than ever before, the Democrats carried the State by 11,000. Next year with a Democratic loss such as they sustained in 1868, the Republicans may claim a majority of 21,000. The Democratic loss in New Jersey in 1868 was 14,000. In 1871 the Democratic majority was 13,000; last year in the Legislative elections the Republicans carried the State. Mr. Tilden, we judge from these facts, could not carry it against Mr. Blaine, even without taking into account the usual Republican gains of Presidential years.

Suppose we give Mr. Tilden his own State, with its 35 votes. With all the others given the Democrats above he would still lack 15 of a majority. But we must take from him Indiana, and one or two Southern States where the Democrats are uncompromisingly opposed to him. We are quite sure, therefore, that he would be no stronger than Hendricks. We cannot see any way out of the dilemma in which both the Tilden and Hendricks factions declare the Democratic party to be in case the favorite of either shall be defeated in the convention. Therefore we conclude as we began, that Mr. Hendricks most likely will be nominated against Mr. Blaine, and be beaten by the superior strength of the Republican candidate no less than by the unchangeable habit of the Republican party's drawing out its full vote in Presidential elections.

With this prediction we are willing to put ourselves upon record and abide the public verdict.

A lumberman named Thomas Wilcox was badly crushed in Denmark on the 25th inst.

Just before the audience gathered in the Congregational church at Fryeburg, Thursday evening, at a concert given by Prof. Davis, of Boston, a large chandelier fell with a crash, breaking in hundreds of pieces. Fortunately the burners were extinguished by the fall.

York.

The Journal says that last Sunday, Rev. J. Brady, of St. Mary's Catholic church, Biddeford, read a letter from Bishop Healy relating to the recent disorderly proceedings in the onslaught upon Develin, condemnatory of the disturbance. It is said Rev. Mr. Brady talked pretty sharp to his people.

Amelioration and Cure.
Amelioration of the symptoms of a disease is, of course, one desirable object of medication, and there are, no doubt, palliatives which possess a considerable remedial efficacy. The temporary disappearance of the indices of a disease, in too many instances, however, delude the sick into a belief that they are cured. Many of those who have borne grateful testimony to the permanent remedial effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in cases of liver disorder, chronic constipation, intermittent and remittent fevers, urinary and rheumatic ailments, have also recorded the fact that the temporary relief occasionally afforded by the medicines which they tried before using the great restorative inspired hopes which were speedily dissipated by a return of the malady. The Bitters not only relieve, but if persistently and regularly taken, cure the maladies to which they are adapted.

TUESDAY, FEB. 15, 1876.

Republican National Convention, 1876.

The next Union Republican National Convention for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States will be held in the CITY OF CINCINNATI, on WEDNESDAY, THE FOURTEENTH DAY OF JUNE, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, and will consist of delegates from each State equal to twice the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress, and of two delegates from each organized Territory and the District of Columbia.

In calling the conventions for the election of delegates, the committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors, and all other voters, without regard to past political differences or previous party affiliations, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues, and desire to promote friendly feeling and permanent harmony throughout the country by maintaining and enforcing all the constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and without fraud; who are in favor of the continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of the Government by honest, faithful and capable officers, who are in favor of making such reforms in government as experience may from time to time suggest, who are opposed to impairing the credit of the nation by depreciating any of its obligations, and in favor of sustaining in every way the national faith and financial honor; who hold that the common school system is the nursery of American liberty, and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe that, for the promotion of these ends, the direction of the Government should continue to be confided to those who adhere to the principles of 1776, and support them as incorporated in the Constitution and the laws, and who are in favor of recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principle of National Unity in this Centennial Anniversary of the birth of the Republic.

STATE APPROPRIATIONS.

Notwithstanding the pressure of the times and the general desire for a strict public economy, the necessary expenses of government must be provided for, and it is expected that some special appropriations will be made. The question is as to the direction which liberality shall take and where the retrenchment screw shall be applied, and we have noticed during several recent sessions a very general disposition among members from the other sections of the State to unite in selecting the State College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts as the victim of those economies which are not so conveniently practiced toward petitioners from their own localities. If a member of either branch, hailing from the Central or Western section of the State, wishes to distinguish himself as a specially vigilant "watch-dog of the Treasury," he is pretty sure to select the State College as a convenient topic of denunciation, and to read some of the heavy fulminations, a person unacquainted with the facts might be led to believe that the eminent citizens who have consented to act as Trustees of that institution, and the faithful and efficient teachers who are laboring for it, are actually less worthy members of the body politic and less useful to the interests of the State, than the sprightly gentlemen who annually berate them at Augusta. It seems to us about time that a stop should be put upon that style of eloquence and the kind of legislation which tends to bring a regularly organized and prudently conducted State Institution into disrepute, and to cast discredit at once upon the motives of legislation and upon the good faith of the Commonwealth.

We repel the attempt to characterize the State College as a mendicant institution begging charity for itself or those connected with it. The institution has been organized, the State has entered into formal pledge with the United States Government, and those entrusted with its care simply ask of the State the means to enable them to perform the functions which the State has imposed upon them. That is the whole case in a nut-shell. It is no part of the duty of the Trustees or of the Faculty to decide whether the State shall fulfil its compact or abolish the institution and pay back the National grant and restore the grounds to the original owners. If the College is to be kept in operation the State, and not the Trustees or Faculty, must provide the ways and means, and if members at Augusta wish to destroy an institution which under the most unfavorable circumstances presents a gratifying record of usefulness, it would be more manly to urge the total abandonment of the enterprise than to advocate the "starving-out" process of withholding the means absolutely essential to its support.

We have no disposition at this time to discuss the merits of other proposed appropriations of the public money, but the suggestion of some of them in connection with the treatment of the State College may not be uninstructive. And first we will mention that some of the same legislators who think that the State cannot possibly afford more than $8,000 in aid of the one institution specially devoted to the interests of the agricultural and mechanical classes, is amply able to spend $10,000 on a Centennial Commission to Philadelphia. They tell us that State pride demands the outlay, and when our Commissioners get fairly established in luxurious head-quarters at the Centennial perhaps the same State pride would impel them to avoid mentioning the fact that we were too poor to respectably support a leading State institution; that the money for the "show" was clipped off from the salaries of professors and tutors of our youth; that in order to make a good exhibit of our "progress" at the Exposition, the sons of our farmers and artisans in the College at Orono are unable to obtain the instruments needed for the prosecution of their studies; or that while the hatchment of the Dirigo State is proudly emblazoned over tastefully arranged pagodas and stands for displaying the wares of some of our wealthiest corporations, the Dairy Department of the Maine State College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts is practicing the forced economy of utilizing the parlor of the farm house for the setting of milk pans.

We find also reported from committee an appropriation of $10,000 for the General Hospital in Portland, which does not seem to be regarded as sufficiently "general" to prevent the same committee from reporting another $10,000 for a Homoeopathic Hospital to be located in the same unhealthy locality. We do not know that both of these hospitals are not needed, and when it comes to voting we have no doubt that some of those who have been most fiercely economical when looking towards Orono, will present powerful arguments to show not only that these two rival infirmaries are needed, but that every school of medicine should have one, established by the State, and that in fact no well regulated family in a seaport should be without a State hospital of its own. But we must protest against the disposition of the residents of hazardous and sickly portions of the State to starve the inmates of our Agricultural College into subjects for their hospitals.

As we have said, we do not propose to discuss these appropriations, nor the kindred propositions for a new Normal School at Bridgton, etc. They may all have merits possibly, but we do not think that either of them can be afforded if the State is too poor to provide adequately for one of its own institutions in whose behalf it has solemnly pledged its faith to the General Government. That the $8,000 is entirely inadequate to meet the pressing wants of the College is apparent to all who give any thought to the subject, and the shabby treatment is rendered more glaring by the simultaneous proposal to grant larger sums of public money for celebration purposes and for enterprises in which the State has no direct concern.

We shall enter upon no advocacy of the merits of the State College, for every man who is qualified to legislate for the people has abundant means of convincing himself of the good work it is accomplishing. The policy of detraction has become so systematic that many are led into a blind opposition, but it has been rare that an unprejudiced member has visited the institution and acquainted himself with its work, without recognizing its worth and its claim to liberal encouragement. If the representatives of the farmers and the working people of the State, who are now in the Legislature at Augusta will look into this matter seriously, they will not be likely to be influenced by assaults upon this College calculated to benefit other applications for help from the Treasury. Intelligent farmers who have given thought to the College appreciate the value of its work and understand that it is the one institution in this State specially devoted to the interests of those classes who bear the heaviest burdens of the taxes. They see that Maine has been losing her young men by emigration largely because they have not been taught that agricultural and mechanical industries afford as wide a scope for all their faculties and are as ennobling in themselves as any of the professions. And they understand that while the ordinary tendency of a collegiate course is to impress graduates with the notion that they are to grasp the prizes of life without special inconvenience or effort, there is one institution in Maine where a farmer's or mechanic's son or daughter may obtain a thorough and practical education without becoming impressed with the idea that labor is undignified or a misfortune.

We still hope that the present Legislature will give unprejudiced consideration to an important subject and deal with the State College in a manner worthy of its claims and of the public-spirited farmers and workingmen in whose interests it was founded.

THE PRESIDENTIAL OUTLOOK.

We republish from the Boston Journal, on our first page to-day another contribution from the group of political observers whose previous estimates have attracted so much attention on the part of the press of the country. This time the "six spectators" take a survey of the prospect at the polls in November next, regarding it from different points of view. First, the two great opposing organizations are contrasted on their negative merits, without regard to candidates, or even allowing these to be of an inferior character on both sides. Then the comparison is continued on the supposition that each party makes the strongest nomination in its power, say Mr. Blaine leading the Republican ticket and Mr. Hendricks the Democratic. An estimate by States shows that Mr. Blaine would then be likely to receive 237 electoral votes, to 132 for Hendricks. The calculators go over that portion of the political field about which there is any doubt, in order to give their reasons for the above figures and fortify their views very cogently. That law of "Presidential Elections, as we may call it, by which the Republican vote in the Northern States is sure to be developed in great superiority to the Democratic, as compared with ordinary elections, is elucidated with special force. The whole letter is full of interest for all who are watching the political prospects of the country and it will be found well worth perusal.

THE AMENDED WATER BILL.

The several amendments to the Bangor Water Bill have been finally passed by both branches of the Legislature, and the bill as amended will be submitted to ratification by popular vote at an early day. We understand that the City Council will take action on the matter this evening with a view to issuing warrants for the voting. The bill now authorizes the increase of the Water Loan Bonds from $350,000 to $500,000 and the amendments are in substance as follows:

Section 1, is amended by striking out the words "for the extinguishment of fires, domestic uses and creating steam," and the words "for all municipal and domestic uses" are inserted instead.

Section 2, by striking out word "said" and inserting "any" as applied to the point for the erection of the dam; "inserting the words "take by gift or" purchase any franchises; and adding "said city shall construct and maintain from time to time, in such dam, such suitable locks or sluice for the passage of boats, rafts, logs and other lumber, as the public necessity may require."

Section 3, to read: "If said city shall elect, to erect or purchase a dam as aforesaid, for said purposes, and there shall be a surplus of water or of power, after supplying at present all of said purposes, said city may sell or lease any surplus water or power created by said dam."

Section 4, providing that the city shall be liable to pay all damages sustained by taking of land, by flowage, by excavating through land, etc., is amended by inserting the words "said city, or such person, or corporation, may cause such damage to be ascertained and determined," as prescribed by law in case of damage by laying out, of highways.

Section 5 is practically a new draft and is so important that we give it entire, as follows:

SECT. 5. The rights, powers and authorities given to the City of Bangor by this act, shall be exercised by the said city, subject to the restrictions duties and liabilities herein contained, in such manner and by such commissioners, officers, agents and servants chosen at such times, and for such terms of office, as the City Council shall from time to time ordain, appoint and direct. Provided, however, that until the first day of January eighteen hundred and seventy-seven there shall be three Commissioners called a Water Board, whose compensation shall be fixed from time to time by the City Council, and George Stetson, William T. Pearson and Luther H. Eaton, all of said Bangor, shall constitute said board from the acceptance of this act, unless sooner removed as hereinafter provided. In case of any vacancy in said board, by death, resignation or otherwise, such vacancy shall be filled by the election of a new member by the City Council, in joint convention, which said City Council may, at any time, by a vote of two-thirds of each board, remove either or all of the members of said Water Board.

Section 6, is amended to provide for increasing the Water Loan to $500,000, and providing that the signatures of the Mayor and members of the Water Board upon the bonds "shall be binding upon said city, notwithstanding such officials may not be in office at the issuing of such bonds, or at the date of said first issue."

Section 7, simply adds to the disposition of the receipts from water rents, etc., the proviso "and for the creation of a sinking fund."

Section 8, creating the sinking fund, strikes out the words "and as compensation for the use of water for municipal purposes."

Section 9 repeals the whole of Section 12 of the original bill which provided for adjudicating any claim of the Bangor Water Company (the Hat Case Co.) or persons named in its charter, growing out of moneys advanced or services performed to secure the introduction of water, etc. It also contained provision for locks or sluices and a clause extending the application of the act to the town of Brewer.

Section 10, of the new bill is as follows:

Sect. 10. Before this act is submitted to the legal voters of said city, the City Council of said city, at a legal meeting, shall accept the provisions of an act, passed by the present Legislature, entitled "An Act to amend and extend the charter of the Bangor Water Power Company," approved Feb. 19, 1867, and said City Council are hereby authorized to accept the same.

Section 11, of the new bill, restores all that portion of Section 12 of the original bill which provides for the adjudication of any claims by the Bangor Water Company or persons named in its charter, for moneys advanced or services performed, with a proviso added, that "all rights under this section shall be claimed within one year from the passage of this act."

Section 12, of the new bill provides that the act shall not take effect until adopted by two-thirds of all the votes thrown at legal ward meetings.

Section 13 provides that the act shall take effect when approved.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH AND MR. BOWEN.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Mr. Bowen can hardly have been in earnest when he proposed to Plymouth Church to submit the great bottom question of Mr. Beecher's guilt or innocence to the decision of a secret court of three inquisitors. That question occupied the whole time of a respectable court of justice, and all the learning and ingenuity of some of the ablest lawyers at the American bar, for six months; more than a hundred witnesses were examined and cross-examined, and some of them gave testimony much more direct and positive than any which Mr. Bowen can be expected to offer; yet the jury could not agree upon a verdict. What reason is there to suppose then that three arbitrators listening only to Mr. Bowen and his unknown witnesses on the one side and to Mr. Beecher and his witnesses on the other, without the aids and safeguards with which courts of justice encompass the production and testing of evidence, would arrive at any more satisfactory conclusion? If they are sworn to preserve secrecy as to what passes before them, is it conceivable that their decision should convince the public? And if it did not convince the public and put an end to the scandal, of what use would it be?

Then there is another thing. Mr. Bowen received the confessions of the "dear friends" who told him of Mr. Beecher's transgressions in the most sacred confidence. That confidence he assures us he will never be base enough to betray. If he did not betray it, how could he get the evidence before the arbitrators? Holding back the names, as he is bound to do, he could tell the secret tribunal little or nothing more than he has told the whole world already, and there is nothing in that which any court or committee could act upon. We doubt whether any three "distinguished and impartial gentlemen" such as Mr. Bowen suggested, could be induced to sit as volunteer judges in a cause where no evidence could be laid before them except through a base breach of confidence.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

In a conversation at the White House last week Colonel Fred Grant is credited with saying that his father did not desire a re-nomination for the Presidency, and that if selected as the Republican candidate at Cincinnati he would not accept the honor. Conkling is Colonel Fred's favorite for the succession, and in this he is supposed to echo the sentiment of his parent.

Mr. Blaine struck fire in Minnesota upon the question of amnestying Jeff. Davis and the people of that State are not yet disposed to let the Confederates come to the front and order Union soldiers to the rear.—Chicago Tribune.

The Democratic members of the House Post Office Committee, in the pending investigation, manifest great personal hostility to the Post Office Department. They have even refused to permit a copy of the evidence taken to be seen by the Post Office officials, although agents of the opposition press are allowed full access to it.

The Winona Republican, after referring to several gentlemen whom the Republicans of Minnesota would cheerfully support at the polls, adds that "neither of these, we venture to say, would produce that universal uprising or command that enthusiastic following among the people of this State that would be inspired by the nomination of James G. Blaine."

Chairman Morrison is a David Davis man. He is not at all sanguine about Democratic prospects.

The Chicago Times concludes that Mr. Blaine has the best chance for the Republican nomination, and Gov. Hendricks for the Democratic.

The Petersburg (Va.) Index seems to labor under the impression that there can never be real reunion until the North gets into that submissive state of mind that will permit it to admit that Jeff. Davis' late letter was truthful and timely.

The Nashua Telegraph says that in one of the largest and closest towns in New Hampshire, the Democratic local managers have purchased 2,000 ten-cent checks, good at any saloon in the place for intoxicating drinks, and are distributing them freely among the unfortunate voters in the community who are open to such propitiation.

AN EFFECTIVE APPEAL. During the debate on the Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation in the House last Thursday, Abram S. Hewitt, a prominent Democratic Representative from New York, vigorously opposed the arbitrary crippling of our Consular system as a deliberate and damaging blow to our foreign commerce. His protest against the miserable policy of his party was emphatic and powerful, but he failed to carry a vote against the Committee except in a single instance. Referring to the proposed abolition of the Consulate at Beyrout, he reminded the House that this is the great eastern centre of missions and the only place where Americans can find protection from the Mohammedans. Then, turning to the Democratic side, he said with vehemence: "I suppose it is no use to ask this side of the House to support Christianity or respectability, but I say to the Democrats it will be a serious thing for them to lose the Presbyterians' vote." This defeated the Appropriation Committee, and the provision for the Consulate at Beyrout was restored to the bill.

TARBOX'S CONUNDRUM. Some of the Democratic papers endeavor to find something very funny in Mr. Tarbox's query: "If gold was at 109 in 1870 and 113 in 1876, how long will it take to reach resumption under Republican rule?" The proposition has no point, but a friend suggests as a fair counter-conundrum: "As, in 1870, with a Republican majority of 97 in the House, gold ruled at 109; while in 1876 with a Democratic majority of 77 in the House, it is at 113, how rapidly will Democratic success bring us to the specie basis?"

HOW ALABAMA CLAIMS ARE PAID. The process for the payment of the awards of the Court of Commissioners of the Alabama Claims is simple. The Court issues a certificate for the amount to the claimant, who may present the same to the Treasury in person and obtain a warrant of payment, or the claimant may, from the name, description, number, etc., of the certificate authorize the money to be collected by power of attorney.

INCREASE OF POSTAL REVENUE. During January the demand for postage stamps, postal cards and stamped envelopes reached the unprecedented amount of $3,500,000. The Department has sold 800,000,000 postal cards since the 30th of June, 1873. The sales during the entire fiscal year, which ended at that date, were only $101,000,000. The figures are considered indicative of the rapid revival of business prosperity throughout the country.

DENTAL CARD.

DR. J. F. BABCOCK desires to say to that class of sufferers who are afflicted with aching teeth that in almost every instance, the pain can be instantly relieved, and that with from three to five further painless treatments the tooth may be filled and permanently restored to health. In support of his assertion Dr. B would say that in no single instance has he ever failed to save every aching tooth which he has attempted to save, and during the past four years there have been by actual count six hundred and thirty of them. However, defective teeth should never be neglected until they ache, but upon the first appearance of decay they should at once be properly, and so permanently, filled with some suitable material—at soluted pure gold being pre-eminently the best. Since 1871, Dr. Babcock has placed in such teeth more than three thousand gold fillings, and it is with much pride that he makes the statement that, to the best of his knowledge, but three fillings only out of this large number have proved defective. The Land Scrip Investigation.

[TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The College land scrip committee met this evening. Mayor Cony of this city and C P Brown of Bangor were examined. Mr Brown said that he, early in the spring of 1866, informally offered 63 cents per acre for twenty five thousand dollars' worth of land, and would take a similar quantity every three months thereafter until he had taken it all. Gov. Cony told him it was the best offer he had received. He never saw the advertisement, did not know of the sale and did not make a final bid. In June following he purchased a few pieces of ... of one of the bidders and paid 65 cents per acre.

Mayor Cony testified that he never located an acre of land in the West, and never was interested in land scrip or land warrants. A public meeting of the committee will take place Wednesday evening.

FROM PORTLAND

The Ogdensburg Railroad.

Portland Feb 14. The stockholders of the Ogdensburg Railroad held a meeting this morning, but adjourned to the 20th without action. The road has not failed to pay its coupons as reported, but in consequence of the necessity of making connection with the Vermont division this fall, have pledged their earnings to a large amount and asked the city to take care of the coupons upon their own city scrip, issued in aid of the railroad. All coupon bonds sold by the company will be promptly met.

The Bank of Portland Case.

In the Bank of Portland bankruptcy case, the counsel for Clements intimated that the defence would be that Gould was a defaulter to the Second National Bank, of which he was cashier, when it closed up, to the amount of sixteen thousand dollars. That to prevent criminal prosecution, which is barred after two years, he carried it forward by organizing a private bank; that this is the true explanation of his deficiency and not the withdrawal of deposits by Clements.

FROM LEWISTON.

The Trial of Ex-County Treasurer Pennell of Portland.

Lewiston, Feb. 14. The Cumberland County robbery case opened to-day, a jury being empaneled and Attorney Libby's opening commenced. A motion was made for the jury to visit the premises. The decision is reserved till plaintiff's case is in. County-Attorney Libby in opening hinted that if the matter of the robbery is pressed in defence the plaintiffs will press two points. First, that the liability of the defendant is not effected thereby. Second, that a further question may be raised as to the robbery. Plaintiff introduced the County Commissioners to testify that Mr. Pennell admitted a balance of $9,073 93 and that it was the amount robbed from him. They claim the amount is increased to $10,983 11. Mr Pennell's clerk was on the stand with the books and vouchers of the office.

FROM FARMINGTON.

Seriously Mangled.

Farmington, Feb. 14. Eben Morton of Vineyard, at work in Daggett's mill, had his foot caught in the machinery which brought it in contact with a saw and had it nearly severed from the limb.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS—First Session.

Senate.

Washington, Feb 14.

Mr Ingalls introduced a bill to protect agriculture against injurious insects. Referred to Committee on Agriculture. He said that during the past year the actual loss from the ravages of the locust, chintz bugs, army and cotton worms and hessian fly exceeded $200 000 000. From the locust alone the amount exceeded $50,000 000. In seven counties of Minnesota nearly 60,000 bushels of locusts were destroyed at a cost of $30,000. He believed the subject was worthy the attention of Congress.

A resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the expediency of establishing a penitentiary upon the Fort Smith military reservation in Arkansas for the confinement of U S prisoners, was agreed to.

Mr Sargent called up the bill to grant a right of way for railroad purposes through the U S Arsenal grounds near Benicia, Cal.

Mr Boutwell moved to amend so as to provide that Congress have the right at any time to alter, amend or repeal the act.—Agreed to and the bill was passed as amended.

Mr Conkling introduced a bill to facilitate the transit of merchandise from Canada through the territory of the United States. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

The bill was passed extending the time for finishing the railroad from Portland, Oregon, to McMinnville, Astoria. It was amended so that homestead settlers and private rights shall be respected, and that Congress shall alter or amend in the future if necessary.

A resolution to take from the files of the Senate and return to the State Department copies of various treaties which have already been acted upon, was presented, together with a letter from the Secretary of State requesting the return of such treaties. Agreed to.

When bills on the calendar were taken up, that to increase the efficiency and promote the maritime interests of the country was passed over and that to amend certain provisions of the revised statutes relating to the transportation of animals was considered. The amendments proposed were agreed to and the bill passed. Finally the Senate on motion of Mr. Morton proceeded to consider the resolution that P B S Pinchback be admitted as a Senator from the State of Louisiana, etc, the pending question being on the amendment of Mr Edmunds to insert the word "not" before the word "admitted."

Mr Morton said that if no other Senator desired to speak he would reply to the argument made last week against the admission of Pinchback by the Senator from Ohio (Thurman). No one taking the floor Mr Morton proceeded to reargue the whole subject of Louisiana affairs but before concluding his argument he yielded to a motion for an executive session. The President pro tempore announced that he had signed the bill to aid in the Centennial celebration of American Independence.

The Senate then went into executive session and at 4 30 o'clock the doors were reopened and the Senate adjourned.

House.

Mr Freeman of Pa presented a petition of the Board of Underwriters of Philadelphia, praying that the disability which now rests upon the Insurance Co's with reference to their status before the Court of Commissioners on the distribution of the Geneva Award fund be removed.

By Mr. Harrison of Ill, for the repeal of parts of the resumption act and for the purpose of preparing a way for the resumption of specie payment. It directs the Secretary of the Treasury whenever National bank notes are withdrawn from circulation to issue in their stead an equal amount of legal tender United States notes but he is not to issue them except when the aggregate amount of the unredeemed legal tender notes and of national bank notes in circulation are less than the aggregate amount of both classes of notes that were in circulation on the 14th of January, 1875.

It also requires national banks to retain as part of their reserves all of the gold received by them as interest on their bonds held by the United States as security for their circulation, until the amount of gold so retained shall equal one-third of their circulation, which gold shall be security for their circulation and deposits. It also requires the Secretary of the Treasury to retain from the gold received from customs duties $16,000,000 annually until the amount so retained shall be equal to one-third the amount of legal-tender notes at such time unredeemed, which gold, so retained, shall be taken from the sinking fund whenever the amount of gold retained in the Treasury be equal to one-third of the amount of unredeemed legal tenders, then the Secretary of the Treasury is to redeem legal tenders to the amount of $12,000,000 annually using for that purpose gold received for customs duties, which gold is to be taken from the amount ordered to be set apart for a sinking fund. Referred to Committee on Banking.

Mr Scales of N C., offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Interior for information as to the disposition made of $3000 appropriated for captive Indians. Also whether the law which requires the presence of a military officer at the delivery of Indian monies or goods has been complied with. Adopted.

Mr. Robbins of Penn., offered a resolution instructing the committee on ways and means to inquire into the expediency of reporting the bill directing the Secretary of the Treasury to defer for a limited period making any further reductions in the bonded indebtedness of the United States by purchasing Government bonds before they come due, also directing him to discontinue any reductions in the amount of legal tender notes now in use; also directing him to discontinue selling gold coin or bullion, but to accumulate it in the Treasury until it reaches millions. Adopted.

Mr. Platt of N. Y. offered a resolution instructing the committee on printing to enquire whether there had been such material alteration in the official debates of Congress as to require action by the House, and whether remarks had been altered or suppressed by others than the members making them. Adopted.

Mr. Hale of Maine, moved to suspend the rules and adopt the following resolution:

Whereas the currency now in use among the people of the United States consists of national bank notes and greenbacks, the latter being the debt of the government widely distributed among the people, and the former being redeemable in greenbacks and subject to like fluctuations with it, and

Whereas the United States Treasury has thus far failed to meet its obligations, and redeem its notes, thereby depreciating the value of the people's money and keeping it at large discount, which depreciation varies from day to day, causing risk and uncertainty in business affairs to the great prejudice of all legitimate industry and enterprise; and

Whereas, as Congress by its enactments, and both political parties by resolutions adopted in their several national conventions stand committed to an early resumption of specie payments, therefore

Resolved, That prompt measures should be taken by such legislation as is needed to render effective the policy of resumption of specie payment, by placing in the hands of the Secretary of the Treasury all necessary powers to carry out said object to the end that a sound and stable currency may be provided for the people.

Mr. Morrison suggested that the resolution be referred to the committee on banking and currency.

Mr. Hale—I think it better to have an expression of opinion of the House now. I want to see whether caucusing has done our friends on the other side of the House any good. The motion to suspend the rules and adopt the resolution was lost—yeas 86, nays 137.

The vote was pretty nearly a party vote, although there were some deviations from that rule. Among the Democrats voting aye were Messrs. Tarbox of Mass, and Willis of New York. Among the Republicans voting no were Baker of Ind, and Fort of Ill.

On motion of Mr. Kelley of Pa, it was ordered that Saturday next be set apart exclusively for debate, the understanding being that Mr. Kelley is to make a speech in reply to Mr. Blaine, and that Mr. Chittenden of N. Y. is to precede in his speech on finance.

Mr Randall of Pa, made a personal explanation in regard to an intimation in to-day's New York Herald as to his making a charge against the U. S Consul at Ningpo for allowing the American flag to be improperly used. He had made the statement on the authority of Mr. Kelm, but not as to Mr. Lord, the Consul at Ningpo. He had used the word "Consul" instead of "Consul General."

The House at 8 30 adjourned.

MORE WHISKEY RING REPORTS.

THE STATEMENTS OF THE N. Y. SUN

The Telegrams Purporting to Implicate Gen. Babcock

New York, Feb 14. The Sun prints the following letters under a Springfield, Ill., date as showing the connection of Babcock with the great Illinois whiskey ring.

Office of the Peoria Elevator Co,
Philip Zell, Sec. H. Francis, Prest.
Peoria Ill March 9, 1875

To H. P. Westeman, Pekin Ill.

Dear Sir—Your telegram this forenoon is received and the settlement of the Babcock services and his friends in W. The assessment was made on the number of barrels actually on hand by each and benefited by the bill, and on the basis of the New York market price you were assessed at 1808 barrels at $62 36, being $1122.40, for which please send the money. All the Peoria distillers have paid their assessment and the money is to be sent off to-morrow. Yours truly, (Signed) Zell & Francis.

On the margin of this were the following memorandums, showing Westeman what other members in the conspiracy had done. Z & F 3000 barrels, Sparks 2,600, Woolner 2,600, Wick & H 2,350, Clark, 1,200, Westeman, 1,800, total 13,630 barrels. The next letter dated March 15, six days later, gives a more detailed statement in regard to Westeman's relations with the ring, and again refers to the Babcock assessment as follows: "Babcock's deal—your assessment is 1800 barrels, at $62 36, $1,122 40, total $2,000 19 which please remit either on Chicago or New York, and I will cancel and return a Washington receipt. At the bottom of the letter is a receipt in full in settlement of Westeman's dues. The facts in relation to this new and startling evidence have not yet been made public in St Louis. The new evidence cannot be used in the present trial against Babcock the two whiskey rings being distinct.

TRIAL OF GENERAL BABCOCK.

The Despatches Admitted.

Examination of Witnesses, Etc.

Continuation of Judge Porter's Argument.

St Louis, Feb 14. Judge Porter occupied nearly all the morning in concluding his argument against the admission of telegrams in the Babcock trial. His conclusions were that they were writing and whether they proved to be what they purported to be in origin and destination, it was still a question of law whether they could be admitted as evidence. To a great majority of the telegrams that were produced there were no answers at all—such were merely hearsay, merely letters relating to facts and making inquiries which did not convey the slightest hint of conspiracy. But none of those whatever might be shown of them, whatever construction put upon them, were admissible as testimony until by intrinsic evidence it had been established that Gen Babcock had knowledge of conspiracy. This must first be proved and it had not been ...ed.

Thomas Walsh's Testimony.

After Judge Porter concluded Thomas Walsh brother in law of General McDonald Chief Clerk in his office when he was Supervisor, was called and identified several letters and despatches written by him at the dictation of McDonald and also identified the signatures of him and Joyce affixed to receipts for telegrams to McDonald Joyce and others.

Admission of Despatches.

On the opening of the afternoon session Judge Dillon read the decision of the court touching the admissibility of despatches as evidence, and all save the two dated December 3d and 5th were admitted under certain objections. These two are reserved for future consideration. The Court decided that the objection of irrelevancy was well taken, that the jury must determine the controverted questions under appropriate advice from the Court; that it was not expedient to give the views of the Court on the force or effect of the despatches, that the despatches were unanswered is not sufficient ground to exclude them, despatches between Joyce and McDonald, confessed conspirators, are admissible as statements or acts of conspiracy, but as to the defendant go for nought unless he is shown to be connected with the conspiracy by other evidence.

Kennedy Hull, manager of the Atlantic and Pacific telegraph office at Washington was called and explained the manner of handling despatches in that office.

C C Saffin, one of the President's private Secretary's was called but he could not identify Joyce's writing.

W. F. Sperry and Messrs Lennox and Cunningham, clerks at the Planters House in this city, testified to having received and receipted for several despatches to McDonald and Joyce in 1873, mostly in December.

Among them was one dated December 5th, supposed to be the one asserted to have been sent by Babcock to McDonald and to which such objection has been made.

E. B. Brown, manager of the Western Union telegraph office in this city, then explained the manner in which the records of his office are kept and how telegrams are handled both for transmission and delivery.

The examination of these witnesses was followed by the reading of a large number of telegrams admitted under the decision referred to above.

NEW YORK CITY.

A Letter from Pinchback.

New York, Feb. 14. Pinchback has a card in the Herald denying the allegation of a Senator that he had been in prison for burglary as false. He says he asks only what is known even among common Southern whites, "a white man's chance," and states that the colored men South deprecate the making of a "color line" in politics ... otherwise and says there is nothing in his case before the Senate to make it exceptional or justifying any departure from established senatorial precedents.

The building which was burned early yesterday morning in Brewer was formerly used as a sail loft, but lately occupied by Geo. Merrill as a boat house. The loss was small and no insurance on the property. The Brewer fire department did not get out in time to do any good.

Sabine & Jordan's store, at Stillwater, was broken into last Saturday evening, and the thieves stole a quantity of groceries and took the money in the drawer, the whole amounting to about fifty dollars. The store was entered by one of the rear windows. No trace of the criminals has been discovered.

Accident. John Collins, the man who has charge of the transfer track at the Maine Central depot, met with a painful accident while he was transferring freight to an E. & N. A. car yesterday morning. One end of the bridge which connected the two cars slipped from one car and Collins fell to the ground, and the other end struck him in the face, cutting one cheek badly and breaking his nose. The blow threw him backwards against a car, making the accident still more painful.

City Affairs.

At a meeting of the Municipal Officers held yesterday afternoon for a hearing on the claim of Wm. D. Lewis for damages for cutting down Main street in 1872, which claim has been before the City Government ever since, after a hearing and full understanding of the testimony in the case it was voted the sum of $35,00 00 be awarded Mr. Lewis for damages, sustained by reason of said grading.

Notifications of appeal from the establishment of sewer assessments on Kenduskeag Avenue and Centre Street were presented by G. S. Beane, S. P. Strickland, Chas. C. Strickland, J. B. Foster, Moses Goodwin heirs, Thomas Trickey, Hermon Bartlett, and heirs of Benj. Wood, and the following persons were nominated, and confirmed by the Board as arbitrators on each of said appeals viz: Wm. T. Pearson, Nathan C. Ayer, Peleg T. Jones, Charles Hayward, Daniel McHoward and Newell Blake.

From Wm. R. Smith, Esq., Treasurer Augusta Savings Bank.

Dr Lighthill—Dear Sir: Some few years since my son, Geo R. Smith, was placed under your care for treatment for a growing deafness which threatened the gradual and entire loss of hearing. Whenever he was attacked with a slight cold his hearing would become imperfect and at times quite alarming. Renewed attacks continued to increase the difficulty, and always left him in a worse condition. I take great pleasure in saying that your treatment entirely relieved him, he has since had no return of the difficulty, and I think him entirely restored. I am happy to give this unsolicited testimony to your skill and success so far as my son is concerned, who I have no doubt but for your treatment would have been entirely deprived of his hearing. Respectfully yours, Wm. R. Smith.

Dr Lighthill offers his professional services to those afflicted with diseases of the Eye and Ear and with Catarrh in all its forms. He will remain a short time longer at the Penobscot Exchange, Bangor. feb11 eod&w

Consumptives Take Notice.—Every moment of delay makes your cure more hopeless and much depends on the judicious choice of a remedy. The amount of testimony in favor of Dr Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup as a cure for consumption, far exceeds all that can be brought to support the pretensions of any other medicine. See Dr. Schenck's Almanac containing the certificates of many persons of the highest respectability who have been restored to health after being pronounced incurable by physicians of acknowledged ability. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many as these evidences will show, but the cure is often promoted by the employment of two other remedies which Dr Schenck provides for the purpose. These additional remedies are Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. By the timely use of these medicines according to directions, Dr Schenck certifies that most any case of Consumption may be cured. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, Corner Sixth and Arch Sts, Philadelphia, every Monday where all letters for advice must be addressed. feb3 eod1m

Wilbor's Cod Liver Oil and Lime.—The great popularity of this safe and efficacious preparation is alone attributable to its intrinsic worth. MY NIECE.

So, my brother has a daughter,
Way down East,
And, they tell me, I have got a
Little niece.

I suppose that all the treasure
Of the East,
Couldn't give half so much ; lend nor
As my niece

All the fables of the Romans,
Or of Greece,
Tell of nothing so uncommon
As my niece

With her eyes sweeter, fairer
Than the West or East
Nettie's sister, daughter rarer
Than my niece

Fair as Venus, sweet as Flora,
Of whom he sees
Cannot choose but to adore her,
Little niece

Hide forty toes and fingers
Dimpled knees
No, all but grace and beauty hide here
Young Lamy niece

Sweet it is to see and hear her
Kindness, too
Makes her every day seem dearer,
Little niece

May all the life care and sorrow,
And disease
Keep as far away from morn as
From my niece

May she know a sha'low never,
Joy and peace
Dwell within her heart forever
Dear niece

GREEN LICE ON HOUSE PLANTS. Jaques Tobacco Soap kills all the green lice on rose plants, ivy, geranium and also makes the foliage of all plants shine. Grocers Shave one bar into a pail of soft water, then dip in the whole top of the plant, shaking it well in the suds. When all the plants are thoroughly soaked, add a quart of water to the soap suds and water the earth with it. It acts as a fertilizer and also kills the little white worms which often infest the roots of pot plants. Two drops of carbolic acid, mixed with a pint of water and three or four table spoonfuls of it pour it into the pots will also destroy those annoying white mites and angle worms.

THE NEW REMINGTON SHUTTLE SEWING MACHINES,

Manufactured at the Celebrated REMINGTON ARMORY, Ilion, N.Y., are the Latest and Best.

The REMINGTON SEWING MACHINES are rapidly becoming general favorites, wherever introduced. While it is not our purpose to undertake any cheap machine, we do claim that the REMINGTON is so complete as to overcome all the principal objections made against Shuttle sewing Machines. That which has long been sought after by probably every Sewing Machine Company, has been obtained in the REMINGTON, namely: An open, round, thick eye, which on all kinds of goods, coarse or fine, without the use of Cop-Wheel Guard, Rotary Cams, or Levers, and with no tensions, cast, and silence in working. Its perfection of Design and Manufacture makes it the simplest, the most speedy, the most durable in the market.

Manufacturers of Clothing, Shoes, etc., etc., will find just what they want in our No. 2 Machine, which is superior to all others.

All kinds of second hand Machines exchanged and sold on time, on the most reasonable terms. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

SWORN STATEMENT

—OF A—

Boston Police Officer.

[illegible]

Dear Sir—As you request I took it as I was directed, with the [illegible] When I received from you I felt very ill, suffering with pain in the [illegible] and kidneys, which I had suffered with for years. I had taken [illegible] and other medicines, and tried the [illegible] but got no relief. I was completely discouraged. I had given up all hope of ever getting well, when I received your medicine. I took it as directed, and in a few days I felt like a new man. I am now entirely well, and can truly say that your medicine has done me more good than all the doctors and medicines I have taken for years. I am happy to state, that I am willing to answer any letters of inquiry, and will be pleased to see any one who may call on me.

Yours, very thankfully,
A. [illegible]

City of Bangor.

Notice is hereby given that the Municipal Officers of the City of Bangor will be in session at the office of the City Clerk, in said Bangor, on the first Tuesday in March next, for the location of a line of new Cross Street, with the proper lines, grades and widths, and assessment of damages upon lots or parts of lots, and against the owners thereof, as shown on a plan now on file in the City Clerk's office, and as may be adjusted and reported by said Municipal Officers.

Said Cross Street is to be laid out and established between Union and Hammond streets, and is to be [illegible] feet wide, and to run [illegible] feet from the westerly line of Union street, and [illegible] feet from the easterly line of Hammond street.

Said Municipal Officers will meet at the office of the City Clerk, in said Bangor, on the first Tuesday in March next, at 7 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of hearing all persons interested in the location of said Cross Street, and the assessment of damages thereon.

Dated at Bangor, this 27th day of January, A. D. 1876.

JOHN H. HAYES, City Clerk.

A true copy of said Municipal Officers' notice and of the doings thereon.

Attest: JOHN H. HAYES, City Clerk
